

KAISER'S GIFT TO ROOSEVELT

A GIANT VASE FROM HIS OWN POTTERY AS A KEEPSAKE.

Colonel Starts for London To-day and Re-opens Special U. S. Ambassador's Office. Ladies Day Mourning—Staff Named—Valpurgis Rites—Morning at Zoo.

Special Cable Despatches in This Sun.

BERLIN, May 14.—Col. Roosevelt spent a quiet morning. The chief item on his programme was a visit to the Roosevelt room and library instituted by the University of Berlin in connection with the Roosevelt exchange professorships.

He took luncheon with Joseph C. Grew, the second secretary of the American Embassy. There he met Prof. C. G. Schilling, the hunter and author of "With Flashlight and Rifle in Africa," who presented him with a set of five photographs which he had taken by flashlight of big game in Africa. The photographs show a hippopotamus, a rhinoceros and a lion drinking, as well as zebras. Prof. Schilling also showed similar pictures on lantern slides.

At luncheon there was only a family party, with the addition of Mr. White and Herr Wiedek, the author and sportsman, who was accompanied by his wife. Other hunters who dropped in were Herr von Wiese, Berger, Götze, the inventor of the lens bearing his name, and Count von Schenck-Thom, son-in-law of former Ambassador White. Count von Götze, German Military Attaché during the Spanish-American war, and who reported favorably on the Rough Riders, was also present. He is now Prussian General-Consul-General at Hamburg. Among the pictures shown on the screen after the luncheon were those of imaginary letters from wild beasts in Africa humorously demanding Col. Roosevelt's aid in securing their protection.

After the luncheon the Colonel accompanied Prof. Schilling to the Zoo and made a tour of it under the close guidance of Director Heck, the Professor and Ambassador and Mrs. Hill, with members of the embassy and a hundred or more sight-seers bringing up the rear. A chimpanzee named Missie gave a special performance, sitting at and sometimes on a table, eating soup and smoking a cigarette. Col. Roosevelt exclaimed: "Ghastly!"

Just before leaving the party were caught in a tremendous storm of hail, thunder and lightning. They took refuge in the ostrich house for twenty minutes. Then they returned through a deluge to the embassy, where a magnificent vase, made at the Kaiser's porcelain factory at Jaden, was presented to Col. Roosevelt on behalf of the Kaiser. The vase bears hand paintings a yard high of the Kaiser and views of Berlin and the Hohenzollern Palace. The motto "Stum Cuique" runs in gold lettering round the top of the vase.

The women of the Roosevelt party spent their last day in Berlin shopping, especially in buying mourning garments. When the Colonel arrives in London he will no longer be a private citizen, but the official ambassador of the United States at the funeral of King Edward, and the ladies accordingly had to make arrangements in regard to their costumes. The entire party must be in complete mourning at the funeral.

Ethel and Kermit Roosevelt were entertained at dinner to-night by Capt. Scharle, the American Military Attaché, and his wife. A dozen other young Americans were present. A reception at the embassy followed.

Mr. Roosevelt and his party will leave Berlin at 11:30 to-morrow morning. The Colonel will be able to see the Kaiser before he leaves, so he sent the Emperor a message presenting his respects and offering his thanks for the hospitality bestowed on his party here.

The Colonel's last days here have been disturbed by a matter more serious than things sartorial. The arrival of the American mail with newspapers containing reports of Archbishop O'Connell's address at Lowell, Mass., in which he denounced John Callan O'Loughlin, who acted as intermediary in the Vatican mess, has brought an unpleasant reminder to the Colonel of that incident.

To have dropped O'Loughlin at Paris was evidently not sufficient to wipe out his share in the series of errors which from first to last marked the entire Vatican campaign. In Berlin there were not wanting indications that even strong admirers of the Colonel do not support him in this matter.

With Col. Roosevelt's visit the American season began here. The hotels are now crowded, rubberneck wagons are filled and the American accent is heard everywhere. There is not much Rooseveltiana. Stories of his doings and talks with the Kaiser have not yet leaked out. Curiously nobody seems to be able to describe exactly the scene of his first greeting by the Kaiser.

It is said that the Colonel impressed the Kaiser immensely. The Emperor is kindness personified, and the forceful Colonel is the style of man she admires. Col. Roosevelt made one American lady happy by consenting to use her horse-power automobile for his Doberitz trip. He has granted many audiences, among them a long one to Mr. Kellogg, the trustbuster. Mr. Kellogg will return to the United States on the same steamer as the Roosevelts, sailing June 15.

Ambassador Hill's action in consulting the British court and Government regarding modified arrangements for Col. Roosevelt's English visit caused by King Edward's death is criticized by ultra-sensitive Americans as unusual and superfluous. It certainly creates a precedent, but a majority of American, English and German opinion applauds Dr. Hill's action. It was taken after deliberation with the German Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the British Ambassador here.

Lorenz Adlon, proprietor of the Hotel Adlon, gave a dinner on Thursday night to the group of correspondents accompanying Mr. Roosevelt. "White House soup" and "antelope à la Roosevelt" were features of the menu, below a photograph of the ex-President.

London, May 14.—Col. Roosevelt's arrival here on Monday will be without ostentation. London is so full of royalties now, with others coming in daily, that he is bound to enjoy obscurity during his stay in London until he appears at the funeral procession on Friday.

After the funeral he will pay visits to the houses of old friends. His only public appearance after the funeral will be at a quiet Guildhall luncheon and at Oxford University when he delivers his postponed Romanesque lecture, the date for which has not yet been fixed.

Oxford Pinchot has been in London for several days. He was booked to sail on the Cadiz but at the last moment he cancelled his passage. He will remain in London to see Col. Roosevelt again.

Another Rooseveltite, Seth Bullock, is also in London. While waiting for Col. Roosevelt's arrival Bullock is busy seeing the sights. He spent to-day at Stratford. Dr. Aschmann-Lucas Bedell said on the Cadiz to-day, leaving behind a small boom for Col. Roosevelt's nomination for the Presidency. Mr. Bedell said to the correspondent of This Sun that no other Republican or Democratic candidate would have a chance of election against him. Mr. Bedell has been in Europe, chiefly in Paris, since March 23. He said that what most impressed him in London was the loyalty of the English to King Edward I and his successor.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Secretary of State Knox has instructed the American Embassy at London to inform the British Foreign Office of the appointment of the following persons as members of Col. Roosevelt's staff when he acts as special Ambassador at the funeral of King Edward: Henry White, former Ambassador to France, Diplomatic Delegate, with the rank of Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary; Commander Andrew T. Long, U. S. N., Naval Attaché of the American Embassy at Vienna, Naval Aide, and Major T. Bentley Mott, Military Attaché of the American Embassy at Paris, Military Aid.

ROUGH RIDERS AS ESCORT.

Those From the West Will Be Entertained by the New Yorkers.

Rough Riders under the command of their president, Charles E. Hunter of Oklahoma City, will act as the personal escort of Col. Theodore Roosevelt on the return of the ex-President on June 15.

As many of the 500 known members of the National Roosevelt Rough Riders Association as can reach New York will be here, and when the procession leaves the Battery after the official welcome by Mayor Gaynor they will form a picturesque part of the parade. Already between 250 and 300 members of the organization have notified the reception committee that they will be on hand. The regiment will remain in New York a week, and during that time the members will be entertained in the Old Guard clubhouse at 229 West Fifty-first street.

The riders will be mounted on horses furnished by Troop C of Brooklyn and will appear in the regulation United States Army khaki uniform. Several members now living on the plains will bring their horses with them.

Capt. Arthur F. Conley, treasurer of the New York branch of the association, and Charles Knobloch, its president, are arranging for their party a comfortable trip and a sail down the bay to the men. Many of the men have never been in New York. On Sunday following the parade West Point will be visited, and on Monday they will be taken to Long Island, where they will be entertained at the Riverside Drive, the navy yard, the forts and other points of interest. Theatre parties will be given on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday evenings. On Wednesday night the will be a regimental dinner on Long Island, at which Col. Roosevelt will be the guest of honor. Among those who are interested in giving their fellow Rough Riders a good time are Colton Reed, secretary of the New York branch, Robert D. Wilson, former tennis champion; William Leonard, also of tennis court fame; Capt. Hallet H. Borrow, who was in charge of the dynamite gun; Kenneth Robinson, Craig Wadsworth and Max Norman.

SEA JUNGLE FOR ROOSEVELT.

If All That Ginger Keller of the Kaiserin Hears Is True.

The Hamburg American liner Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, in yesterday, will bring Col. Roosevelt to this port on her next trip from Hamburg, and her palm room, where the Colonel is expected to take his meals, will be transformed in his honor. Keller, the head of the Ritz-Carlton restaurant, known otherwise as "Ginger" because of his red hair and his snappy way, is up in the air over the transformation. He says he hears, and hopes it is all true, that the palm room will be converted into a miniature tropical jungle and that there will be a live crocodile in the fountain and several young lions of tigers in leath, kept by Hagenbeck of Hagenburg, half concealed in the brush, not to mention tropical birds, a small python or so and other things to make the Colonel feel perfectly at home.

CANADIAN MILITIA BIPLANE.

Government on the Point of Buying a McCurdy-Baldwin Flier.

OTTAWA, May 14.—The Dominion Government is negotiating for a biplane made by McCurdy and Baldwin, known as the Baddeck pattern. Dr. Graham Bell also is interested. It will be used by the Militia Department and will be delivered in Ottawa within a few weeks. The machine has been thoroughly tested and has recently gone fifty miles an hour. It is said it will be used at the military camp at Petawawa this year when Gen. French inspects the troops.

A Militia Department official said to-day that the negotiations were not completed yet. It is understood the Government will pay $5,000 for the machine.

EX-GOVERNOR'S WIFE TOO HELD

MRS. ROLLINS GIVES $2,000 BAIL ON SMUGGLING CHARGE.

New Hampshire's Former Executive Says He Expects to Make a Statement That Will Put the Matter in a Different Light—Government Holds Frank.

Mrs. Frank West Rollins, wife of former Governor Rollins of New Hampshire, who with his son Douglas was arrested on Friday on the charge of conspiring to smuggle in wearing apparel, souvenirs and articles of jewelry, was formally put under arrest herself yesterday by United States Marshal Henkel in the Federal Building and arraigned before Commissioner Shields. The complaint, sworn to by Customs Inspector Matthew P. Cassidy and attached to the three warrants issued by Commissioner Shields, includes in the common charge of conspiracy ex-Gov. Rollins, Mrs. Rollins and their son. As in the case of her husband and son, Mrs. Rollins was held in $2,000 bail for examination next Friday. The bail was at once furnished by the American Bonding Company of Baltimore and Mrs. Rollins left the building with her counsel. She declined to make any statement.

The Rollins party are stopping at the Hotel Belmont. Ex-Gov. Rollins gave out the following statement yesterday afternoon:

"The newspapers in the last twenty-four hours have contained statements in regard to my landing from the Lusitania on the 13th which are highly colored and give a wrong impression. My natural impulse is to publish a statement correcting the misconception, but I do not deem it wise or advisable at this time to make any statement through the papers. At the proper time I expect to make a statement which will put the matter in a different light."

The trunks were taken to the Appraiser's stores yesterday, but they will not be opened until to-morrow morning.

LOST TO HIMSELF.

Aphasia Mr. Salmowitz, Identified, Sadly Says He Can't Be He.

Policeman Altanasi encountered on Broadway last night a well dressed, well-mannered man who asked to be taken home. The policeman soon found that the man had no idea who he was, where he lived or how he came to be where he was.

At the Tenderloin police station a few dozen addresses were found in notebooks in his pockets. The police called up precinct after precinct in hopes of finding some one who knew him.

The stranger asked for a cigarette and got it. Suddenly he was sure his name was Joe. He tried another cigarette, but he failed to stir the depths of memory. One of the addresses was that of H. Kramer of 220 Sixth street. About 11 o'clock Mr. Kramer, attended by Mark Graft, his next door neighbor and the Republican leader in the Sixth Assembly district, entered the station house. They recognized the man at once as Joseph Salmowitz, a well-to-do retired manufacturer of dress goods, living at 15 Bridge street.

In Mr. Salmowitz's pockets the police had found this unsigned note:

"DEAR EVELYN: I am grateful to you for giving up your stage work. I do not think I would live so long. If you were not so selfish you would consider my feelings and consent."

Over this missive Mr. Kramer pondered for a while. He said that Salmowitz had been in love with his (Kramer's) wife's sister Evelyn, who is happily married.

But Mr. Salmowitz failed to recognize Mr. Kramer. He showed no emotion at hearing the name of Evelyn. He doubted his own identification. In ultimate despair he was sent to Bellevue for observation as to his sanity.

ROBBED A COMET GAZER.

While Sweeney Scanned the Blank Sky His Pocket (With $25) Was Cut Out.

Michael Sweeney, who has lived at 204 East Twenty-first street for more than fifty years, left the stone cutting yard at which he works with $27 in his hip pocket last evening. He got off a Second Avenue car at Twenty-first street and found a group of young men standing on the corner staring up at the heavens. They told Michael that they were looking at the comet, which they said, was visible earlier than usual. Michael joined the gazers for a while but decided that his sight must be failing and started home.

It was not until he was in the house that he discovered that his hip pocket containing the $27 had been neatly cut out. Michael told the police all about it, saying that it was the first time in all his long life in the district that anything of the kind had ever happened to him.
